It was headquartered in Orem, Utah. As of December 31, 2013, UNPC was the largest of the 272 local councils and is geographically located within the Western Region of the BSA. [1] In 2011, the UNPC was recognized by the Utah Best State Foundation as Utah's best humanitarian organization. UNPC is a non-profit company governed by detection policies and an executive committee based in the local community. [2] In April 2020, in conjunction with the former Councils of Great Salt Lake and Trapper Trails for the creation of the new Crossroads of the Western Council. [3] The UNPC organization is organized in 21 geographical areas known as regions, each delivering scout programs to their local communities:[4] Alpine, Araween, Black Diamond, Bryce Canyon, Cathedral Canyon, Cedar Breaks, Great Basin, High Uintah, Hobbie Creek, Iron Horse, Mount Nebo, Orem, Porter Rockwell, Provo Peak, San Juan, Snowy Canyon, Tavaputs, Tibangos, Wasatch and Zion District Camps UNPC operates eleven scout camps and two high adventure bases throughout central and southern Utah. [5] They include Dell Maple, Tifie, Blue Mountain, High Uintah, Scofield, Camp Eagle Mountain, and Lightning Ridge Scout Camps. Camp Jeremiah Johnson (Cub Scout Day Camp) and Buck Hollow (Adventure Park for Young [11 years old] Scouts and Weberos [10 years old] Wildlife Adventure) are camps dedicated to serving younger scouts and cubs. Entrada and Beaver high adventure bases mainly serve varsity scout groups and Venturing crews. [6] Unpc also has quail creek camp and bacon park camp. These sites are used for unit and area activities, family reunions, and council training courses. UNPC offers structured training courses for young people, adult Scouter and family homes in many of the Scout camps. distinctive Wooden badge is the prize given to those who complete the highest adult scout training program in Detection. The courses are approved by the national BSA and are usually funded by a local council or district. [7] It is the sign of people who have proven themselves to be people of character who are dedicated to a cause: people who fight for perfection well knowing that even the best is not enough. men who possess the well-being of other It's me. Detectors that respond to everything that this name implies. [8] UNPC offered 14 wooden badges for 21st century courses in 2011 and trained 376 adult scouts in 2010. [9] Timberline Timberline National Youth Leadership Training is what UNPC calls its national youth leadership training courses. In 2010, UNPC trained 889 young people in this course over 12 summer weeks in 39 separate courses. [10] [11] The UNPC family camping used to offer an annual family camping program at Dell Maple Camp that allowed an entire family to participate in fun activities associated with a Scout camp as a family and without a progress focus. The UNPC also offers a Family Odyssey program that is modeled on the experience of the Philmont Training Center at The Tifie Scout Camp. This is a family program where a parent can attend the Wood Badge, a boy scout age can attend Timberline (NYLT) and the rest of the family can participate in age-appropriate activities all at the same camp and all during the same week. [12] Unpc Nest Eagles has a nationally certified National Eagle Scout Association committee that recognizes young Eagle Scouts as well as notable Eagle Scouts from the board. Our board is the largest in the country, and we've really had the lead at the Eagle Scout Awards in the last couple of years, said John Gaily, the council's program director. We're by far the most. In 2010, the UNPC recognized 2,818 new Eagle Scouts. [1] UNPC and NESA recognize notable Eagle Scouts with either the Outstanding Eagle Scout Award or with the Distinguished Eagle Scout Award: Notable Eagle Scouts from UNPC include:[13] Distinguished Eagle Scouts Merrill D. Christopherson, entrepreneur, awarded 1984 Dallin H. Oaks, Administrator, awarded 1984 Alan C. Ashton, Entrepreneur/corporate officer, awarded 1993 Jeffrey R. Holland, Educator, Awarded in 2000 Larry M. Gibson, Entrepreneur/Corporate Officer, Awarded in 2005 Wilson W. Sorensen, Educator, Awarded in 2007 Steven E.
